

MICROPROMPTS-NOV2018

MAKE MORE WITH LESS: BIT.LY/Short-form

SUN

MON

TUE

WED

THU

FRI

SAT

Write about . . .

01

A celebration of the dearly departed for Día de los Muertos

02

Your tombstone for Nat'l Plan Your Epitaph Day

03

Sputnik II's launch and the first dog in space (1957)

04

Time lost with Daylight Savings, ending today

05

The first trans-continental flight across US (1911)

06

The ballot box or "I voted" stickers on Election Day

07

Marie Curie, double Nobel Prize winner, born (1867)

08

The discovery of X-rays (1895) and what your insides look like

09

Metaphorical walls for the opening of the Berlin Wall (1989)

10

Something you did not forget for Forget-Me-Not Day

11

A memorial in words or images for Veteran's Day

12

Suffragist Elizabeth Cady Stanton, whose father wished she were a boy (born 1815)

13

The first book you remember reading for Young Readers Day

14

Surgery or healing for Operating Room Nurse Day

15

Gigantic flowers for Georgia O'Keefe's birthday (1887)

16

An important button lost or pushed for Button Day

17

The longest or shortest hike you've done for Take a Hike Day

18

Elmo's debut (1985) and what will happen when he retires

19

A strange bathroom scene for World Toilet Day

20

A beloved bike you once had for the Tour de France, est. 1902

21

An imagined revelation for False Confession Day

22

What you're glad you don't have for Thanksgiving

23

An overheard conversation for Nat'l Day of Listening

24

Epic anthems for Queen's Freddie Mercury, dead at 45 (1991)

25

Narrow escapes for hijacker D.B. Cooper, who leapt from a plane with $200,000 over WA state (1971)

26

A sad, caged menagerie for the first lion exhibited in the US (1716)

27

How darkness changed with the invention of the friction match (1826)

28

The god of war or a trip to Mars for Red Planet Day

29

Godzilla getting a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame (2004)

30

Mark Twain born (1835) who said, "When you catch an adjective, kill it."

Tips for Writers

- 1) Don't let Google steal your writing time.
- 2) If you don't know it, make it up.
- 3) Set a timer (keep it short).
- 4) Check off the date when you're done.

